Call for submissions

for the ISSRC Joseph F. Donnermeyer New Scholar Award 2021

About the award

- ⇒ This award is given to an early career researcher for a publication pertaining to rural criminology— sole or multi-authored publications can be submitted but only one applicant can receive the award
- ⇒ Note: An early career researcher is defined as someone who is less than 7 years since being awarded their PhD. The nominee/s can be self-nominated, or nominated by other persons with the nominee's permission
- ⇒ The nominee can be based at a university or other higher education institution or, non-government or industry role, but they do not have to be in a position of employment
- ⇒ Previous applicants are eligible to apply in subsequent years
- ⇒ Applicants further than 7 years out who have experienced career interruptions are eligible for the award and should provide a brief outline of the interruption in their application

Career interruptions – where the period of time claimed should be commensurate with the interruption – can be understood as: (i) disruption due to international relocation (not exceeding three months per move); (ii) caring responsibilities; (iii) being the primary carer of a dependent child (two years per dependent child, inclusive of any period of parental leave, with no maximum identified); (iv) a primary carer of a dependent child who has had extensive caring responsibilities (due to for instance, illness and / or disability) is eligible for a further extension (in addition to the two years); (v) parental leave; (vi) medical condition; (vii) disability; (viii) non-research employment not concurrent with research employment; (ix) unemployment

To apply:

- ⇒ Provide a PDF copy of a journal article or book chapter accepted for publication or published (in print or online) within approximately the last 12 months
- ⇒ The application is to be accompanied by a nomination (not exceeding one A4 page) that provides a short career overview relevant to the nominated article in rural criminology
- ⇒ An up-to-date resume

The award recipient will receive:

- ⇒ A certificate commemorating the achievement
- ⇒ One year of free membership of ISSRC
- ⇒ £50 (GBP) book voucher from Bristol University Press
